Era 16: Roaring Twenties

1920–1929 · APUSH Period 7 · Lessons 37–38

Name _____ Due _____

This is your study guide for the whole era. Complete each lesson section as you study it, using your class notes and textbook: read the AP topic(s) listed for the lesson in your textbook, define every term, person and event in your own words, then answer the Key Question in 3–5 sentences with specific evidence. Each lesson is checked and stamped in class; the whole guide is collected and graded at the end of the era. Before the end-of-era test: finish the Era Wrap-Up, then reread the whole guide. Fix or add anything in a different color.

AP Short-Answer Practice

Answer a, b and c. Each part is scored on its own, so answer each one directly in 1–3 sentences with specific historical evidence.

U.S. Department of Homeland Security, persons obtaining legal permanent resident status, by decade, 1880–1939

Decades are fiscal years (for example, 1880s = 1880–1889).

Data: U.S. Department of Homeland Security, Yearbook of Immigration Statistics: 2019, Table 2 (decade totals).

a. Briefly describe ONE pattern in immigration shown in the graph between the 1880s and the 1930s.

b. Briefly explain ONE cause of the change in immigration shown in the graph between the 1910s and the 1930s.

c. Briefly explain ONE way debates over immigrants and outsiders affected American society between 1919 and 1929.

DBQ Practice · Sourcing: Historical Situation

PROMPT

Evaluate the extent to which Americans in the 1920s sought to return to traditional values.

Your task: Write 2–3 sentences explaining how the historical situation in which Harding gave the speech in the document on this page is relevant to an argument that answers the prompt.

What earns the point: To earn credit, explain how the circumstances when the document was created (for example, the end of World War I and the 1920 presidential campaign) shaped what it says, and why that matters to your argument. Simply stating when it was written is not enough.

Warren G. Harding, Republican presidential candidate, address to the Home Market Club, Boston, May 14, 1920

My countrymen, there isn't anything the matter with world civilization, except that humanity is viewing it through a vision impaired in a cataclysmal war. Poise has been disturbed, and nerves have been racked, and fever has rendered men irrational; sometimes there have been draughts upon the dangerous cup of barbarity, and men have wandered far from safe paths, but the human procession still marches in the right direction.

America's present need is not heroics, but healing; not nostrums, but normalcy; not revolution, but restoration; not agitation, but adjustment; not surgery, but serenity; not the dramatic, but the dispassionate; not experiment, but equipoise; not submergence in internationality, but sustainment in triumphant nationality.
