Era 17: Great Depression & New Deal

1929–1941 · APUSH Period 7 · Lessons 39–41

Name _____ Due _____

This is your study guide for the whole era. Complete each lesson section as you study it, using your class notes and textbook: read the AP topic(s) listed for the lesson in your textbook, define every term, person and event in your own words, then answer the Key Question in 3–5 sentences with specific evidence. Each lesson is checked and stamped in class; the whole guide is collected and graded at the end of the era. Before the end-of-era test: finish the Era Wrap-Up, then reread the whole guide. Fix or add anything in a different color.

AP Short-Answer Practice

Answer a, b and c. Each part is scored on its own, so answer each one directly in 1–3 sentences with specific historical evidence.

U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, civilian unemployment rate, 1929–1942

Annual averages. For these years the civilian labor force counts persons 14 years and over.

Data: Economic Report of the President, 2015, Table B-11 (source: U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics).

a. Briefly describe ONE trend in unemployment shown in the graph between 1929 and 1942.

b. Briefly explain ONE cause of the change in unemployment shown between 1929 and 1933.

c. Briefly explain ONE way the federal government responded to unemployment between 1933 and 1941.

DBQ Practice · Sourcing: Intended Audience

PROMPT

Evaluate the extent to which the New Deal changed the role of the federal government in American life from 1933 to 1941.

Your task: Write 2–3 sentences explaining how Roosevelt's intended audience for the document on this page shaped what he said, and why that is relevant to an argument that answers the prompt.

What earns the point: To earn credit, identify the audience (here, a nation in the middle of a banking crisis and mass unemployment) and explain how speaking to that audience shaped the document's message and why that matters to your argument. Naming the audience alone is not enough.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, First Inaugural Address, Washington, D.C., March 4, 1933

This great Nation will endure as it has endured, will revive and will prosper. So, first of all, let me assert my firm belief that the only thing we have to fear is fear itself—nameless, unreasoning, unjustified terror which paralyzes needed efforts to convert retreat into advance.

Our greatest primary task is to put people to work. This is no unsolvable problem if we face it wisely and courageously.

[. . .]

I shall ask the Congress for the one remaining instrument to meet the crisis—broad Executive power to wage a war against the emergency, as great as the power that would be given to me if we were in fact invaded by a foreign foe.
